

Conserving our Built Heritage - An International Challenge for Construction Professionals

Date: Monday 8 March 2010
Time: 11am Coffee and Registration
Venue: Merchant Adventurer's Hall, York
Cost: £25 Members £30 Non Members
 Booking Essential

Event information:

This important event will provide an opportunity for members of all the built environment professions to consider together the challenges of built heritage conservation. Our setting is the historic Merchant Adventurers' Hall in York. Our context is international and forward looking. CIOB's current President, Professor Li Shirong, is Deputy Director of the Foreign Trade and Economic Relations Commission of the Chongqing metropolitan in China, a city with a population of 32 million.

Our host will be Paul Shepherd, CBE, a Past President of CIOB who, as Governor of the Company of Merchant Adventurers, will talk at first hand about the challenges of harmonising modern environmental requirements with the demands of conservation. Following those inputs, a workshop session facilitated by another CIOB Past President (Professor John Bale) will provide an opportunity for all participants to contribute their own experiences and share viewpoints. And our intention will be to publish a summary of the outcomes of the workshop in both English and Chinese.

Please join us for this stimulating, worthwhile and productive Yorkshire event.
